The Hidden Danger in Having Employees Small Business Solutions...

Employee or Subcontractor?

We are in a work environment where self-employment is growing by leaps and bounds. In fact, by 2020, more than 40% of the workforce will be self-employed or also known as freelancers (freelance workers). So what determines whether your worker is an employee or a subcontractor? And further, why should you care? Read more...

Why It Is Dangerous to Have Employees

And What You Can Do About It...

As any entrepreneur, small business owner, or self-employed individual will tell you, the process of owning and running a business is inherently full of risks. Many of these risks are external in nature. However, there is one type of risk that many small business owners do not often think about is their employees. Read more...

Worker's Comp — Minimize Your Business Risk

Workers' Compensation Insurance, or Workers' Comp as it is more often referred to, is insurance that a business carries to protect employees against loss of income and medical expenses if they become injured or ill as a result of performing their work. These costs can be unpredictably high and there can be uncertainty around if and when an employee might return to work. Read more...

Last but not least, make sure your business assistance program is listed and up to date in the nonprofit economic development directory at BUZGate.org. Thank you.
